HomeCare Elite Honor Indicates Pace-Setting Performance for Kettering

KETTERING – OCS HomeCare has announced Kettering Network HomeCare as being among its 2009 HomeCare Elite, the annual compilation of the most successful home health providers in the U.S. Only those in the top 25 percent of providers are listed in this ground-breaking review.

Agencies are judged based on quality outcomes, quality improvement and financial performance measures. The HomeCare Elite list was based on publicly-available data from Home Health Compare and CMS cost reports.

“Our nurses are deeply committed to making a personal connection with each of our patients and their families by attending to their physical, emotional and spiritual needs,” said Joan Gravel, Interim director for Kettering Network HomeCare. “We are very pleased to have earned this honor. It is really a tribute to all those strong relationships we have built and the outstanding care we have provided.”

Kettering Network Home Care specializes in short-term skilled nursing and therapy services. KNHC empowers their patients and families to achieve maximum independence through effective, quality individualized care.
